

Would black Americans, yesteryear and today, have been better off if the Constitution had not been ratified—with the Northern states having gone their way and the Southern states having gone theirs—and,
as a consequence, no union had been created?

I think not.

—Walter Williams—