

The equality of which the Founders wrote was not and is not an equality that comes after creation, but one that prevails by virtue of God's creating people in His image. Thus, this is not an equality that can be engineered by government, but one that already exists and that government is obligated to recognize and uphold.