

A person is standing on a large, dark rock in the foreground, with their arms outstretched horizontally. The background is a soft, hazy sunset or sunrise over a range of mountains. The sky is a pale, warm color, and the mountains are silhouetted against it. The overall mood is one of freedom and achievement.

Have you stopped to consider the freedom capitalism offers you and what your life would be like without it? How valuable is this freedom to you? No, you can't do absolutely everything you may want to do. Certain limitations, such as not having enough money to buy your first-choice car or computer, prevent you from taking first-choice actions. Yet within the free market economy, you are the one in charge! You can work to reduce your limitations! One day, that car won't be so far out of reach!