

A close-up, slightly blurred photograph of a wooden gavel head. The gavel is positioned diagonally across the frame. A metal band, likely brass, is wrapped around the head of the gavel. The wood has a natural grain and a warm, brownish tone. The lighting is soft, highlighting the textures of the wood and metal.

Justice is indiscriminately due
to all, without regard
to numbers, wealth,
or rank.

—John Jay—