

The image of God in man, and man's possession of the creation mandate with its twin aspects of duty and authority are the starting point for the Biblical model of rights.

—Gary Amos—